Notes from The President

By David Streit, GMCW President

I never cease to be amazed at the creative talent that comes from the music staff of GMCW. One of the finest parts of my job is thanking those who contribute vast amounts of time and sweat to make this group one of the finest choruses in the nation.

Tonight, you will witness such magic, thanks in large part to the wizardry of our own Michael Rivard, chorus choreographer. His job title will never take into account all the innumerable jobs he takes on in putting together such an event. We can never thank him enough for his dedication to the chorus.

In June, you will have your first opportunity to take the chorus home with you! The adventure of putting together our first commercial recording has required a lot of extra work on behalf of all our chorines. We believe the extra effort has paid off and hope you will, too.

This project has been facilitated by numerous people, but has always been carefully nurtured by our director, Jim Holloway. Jim has worked diligently over the past four years to perfect his skills as a director. His unique ability to communicate vocal concepts to the chorus is a wonder and will be evident in this recording.

There are many, many more people who could and should be thanked at this time, but I don't want to start sounding like an Academy Award address.

I hope you all get a chance to know some of the fine men of this chorus. Each one is a unique individual as well as a great team player. There is a true excitement in gathering together with all of you to share the joy of our gay culture. Your presence tonight and support through the year inspires us as we endeavor to represent our community to the community at large.

Lambda Rising, Our Main Outlet

by Rick Rosendall

GMCW is pleased and proud to welcome Lambda Rising as the official sponsor of Our Show of Shows. Preparing to celebrate its 20th anniversary later this year, Lambda Rising is known for the best in gay and lesbian literature, music, videos, magazines and newspapers, jewelry, t-shirts, cards, and gifts – not to mention a community bulletin board with the latest roommate and job listings and postings for every imaginable activity. People come and go so quickly here that it would be hard to overstate the value of the safe space Lambda Rising provides for people to make the right connections. (Speaking of great connections, Lambda's series of authors' book signings recently included bodybuilders Rod and Bob Jackson-Paris.)

Looking for a recording of the Flirtations? Kate Clinton's latest comedy album? How about that hot 10th anniversary CD from the Lesbian and Gay Chorus? Just check out Lambda's CD shelf. Their video collection is equally impressive, with everything from My Own Private Idaho to Last Call at Maud's and Before Stonewall – plus health videos and classic gay foreign films.

Lambda Rising's long tenure as a ticket outlet for gay and lesbian events has not been without its bumpy moments. In April 1993, when a million of their closest friends all came to town on the same weekend, owners Jim Bennett and Deacon Maccubbin and their staff were just a bit overwhelmed. People lined up around the block waiting to get in, stacks of the Blade were piled higher than cars outside, and untold hordes milled about who had decided that this was the ideal meeting place. Please keep this in mind if you were one of those who inundated them with last-minute calls for Gay Men's Chorus tickets. Imagine the poor clerks that day, faced with ten times more customers than they could possibly handle, wondering what was going on back there by the magazine racks, and not even being able to get a phone line open to call for help! Having witnessed the horror first-hand, I must say that Jim's and Deacon's sponsorship of tonight's show is a tribute to their forgiving nature as well as their generosity.

Many of us remember the original Gay Pride celebrations that Deacon sponsored in the 1970s outside the store's former location at 20th and S Streets, NW. In so many ways, Lambda Rising is such an integral part of our community's landscape that we cannot imagine life here without it. So here's an early wish for a happy 20th, and may there be many, many more!

Cornered Tune." Blossom Dearie, in the album "Frank Loesser Revisited" (Painted Smiles) and Sara Brightman in "Songs That Got Away" (Polydor) have recorded it, each employing the multi-track technique to sing the three parts.

BUSHEL AND A PECK – Introduced by Vivian Blaine in Guys and Dolls. Best-selling records by Betty Hutton and Perry Como (RCA Victor); Margaret Whiting and Jimmy Wakely (Capitol); Doris Day (Columbia). Song not used in the film version.

LUCK BE A LADY – Introduced by Robert Alda in Guys and Dolls. Sung in the film version by Marlon Brando, 1955.

SIT DOWN, YOU'RE ROCKIN' THE BOAT – Introduced by Stubby Kaye in Guys and Dolls, 1950. Kaye repeated his role and the song in the film version, 1955.

LADY OF SPAIN – words and music by Robert Hargraves, Tolchard Evans, Stanley J. Damerell, Henry J. Tilsley, 1931, 1952. This import became popular in the U.S. via two British recordings: Ray Noble (Victor) and Roy Fox, the American Band leader who became well known in England (Br. Decca). Al Bowlly, who later gained fame with Noble, sang the vocal for Fox. It was revived in 1952 with Eddie Fisher's million-seller (Victor) and Les Paul's hit instrumental version (Capitol).

CHIQUITA BANANA – words and music by Leonard Mackenzie, Garth Montgomery and William Wirges, 1946. Originally written as a singing commercial for the banana industry instructing consumers "Don't ever put a banana...in the refrigerator." Xavier Cugat and his Orchestra played it in This Time For Keeps, 1947.

SUGARTIME – words and music by Charlie Phillips and Odis Echols, 1958. Featured and hit record by The McGuire Sisters (Coral).

MOUSEKETEER TIME

Hi, Mouseketeers! Big doings this week – adventure, fun, music, cartoons, news...Everybody ready? Then on with the show!

On Mondays, Mickey opens the show garbed as a song-and-dance man, because Monday is Fun with Music Day.

Today is Tuesday
You know what that means –
We're gonna have a special guest!
Whoa, boy! Whoa, steady!

Hi, Mouseketeers, Wednesday is Stunt Day, so hang on, anything goes. You ready? Wednesday is Anything Can Happen Day. After the usual newsreel, the Mouseketeers appear in a stunning array of disguises.

Well, today is...ah...oh...ah... Circus Day! But before the circus begins, a special guest always appears on Thursdays – Jiminy Cricket – who fills the first fifteen-

Who's Who (presented alphabetically)

Jeffrey Buhrman
Assistant Director

Jeff joined GMCW in September 1986 and has since been director of Potomac Fever, our close harmony ensemble, as well as a featured soloist in several GMCW concerts. Jeff received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Montclair College where he studied voice with Marden Bate and conducting with David Randolph. He spent several years singing in New York City with several professional choruses while studying with Walter Blazer at the Manhattan School of Music. An interest in madrigal singing led him to found and direct a five-voice early music ensemble, "Friends and Aires," performing in the New York metropolitan area. Jeff has been a music educator for the past 17 years and is presently Dean of Students at a private school in Maryland.

Theodore Guerrant
Principal Accompanist

Known to GMCW members and audiences alike for eleven years as an understudy for the traditional characters of Charlie Chaplin, Carmen Miranda and Liberace, and as the untraditional "Miss Tessy-tura," "Dr. Teddy" first came to us as Jim

Holloway's sidekick on the piano bench, where he and Jim quickly established their reputations as innovative interpreters of Leonard Bernstein's "Wrong Note Rag."

In real life, he holds four college degrees in music and has seven other part-time jobs as Director of Music and Organist at one church,

Associate Organist at a second church, Assisting Organist at a third church, Accompanist/Rehearsal Assistant for three other area choral groups, and Administrative Staff member in the music department of a local university.

A noted authority on many subjects, he is as comfortable giving a lecture-demonstration on the harmonic analysis of the hymns of Fannie Crosby (1820-1915) as he is delivering a discourse on the "Sword and Sandal" movie classics of the early 1960's starring, for example, Adriano Bellini (b. 1944, alias "Kirk Morris"). Two previous GMCW conductors have survived him, and he is now working on (or under, as it were) the third.

James Holloway
Music Director

"We recognize a responsibility to the words 'community,' 'artistry,' 'excellence,' 'entertainment,' 'inclusiveness.'"

"A flexible sense of community will enable us to find common ground with every audience: a community of gay and lesbian people, a community of friends and family, a community of Washingtonians, and the wider community of music lovers."

"Somewhere around a 'C,' baritones, if you please!" "This 'ah' vowel is not up for a vote, tenors" "Love this phrase; it'll love you back" "Starting with the last page and working forward..." "...and the new words are..."

—spoken in GMCW rehearsal

James Holloway, now in his fourth season as Music Director, brings to the podium a varied musical background and a passion for the gay and lesbian choral movement. His work as a pianist and accompanist are well known in the Washington area and he has performed throughout the United States and in England.

His background has included substantial experience in instrumental music, orchestral music, and chamber music as well as many years of experience in vocal coaching including opera, music theater, and choral music. He holds music degrees with honors from the University of South Carolina and the University of Maryland where he studied with Stewart Gordon, Nelita True, and noted vocal coach and accompanist Martin Katz. He has also studied extensively in England with the venerated pianist Denise Lassimonne, who for almost fifty years has been the living link to the great piano pedagogue Tobias Matthay.

Jim currently serves as Vice-President of GALA Choruses, the organizational network serving more than one hundred gay and lesbian choral organizations in the United States, Canada, Europe, and around the world. He successfully led fund-raising efforts at GALA's last Leadership Conference. Jim works for the Library of Congress as a copyright examiner for the performing arts and has been listed in Outstanding Young Men in America.

Of gay choruses he says, "There are no blueprints for us to follow; we are constantly inventing ourselves. Sometimes the press and the arts funding establishment don't know how to deal with us, but that's because we will not be so easily categorized or pigeon-holed. We are free to develop a style and choral personality all our own which let us choose from the widest possible array of musical and entertainment styles. In our music we may soothe or confront, we may even laugh at the humor of our own lives, but we must not be boring."

Michael L. Rivard
Stage Director/Choreographer

Michael has been directing and choreographing for A Few Good Men, the chorus' song-and-dance ensemble, for nine years now, and serving as stage director for GMCW's "theatrical productions" for the past four. It has been said, among other things, "Michael's credentials include a warped sense of humor, a twisted mind, and an imagination out of control."

Michael moved to the D.C. area in 1976 and began his association with the chorus in the spring of 1985. While living in this area he has studied jazz, tap, ballet, and modern dance, as well as piano and voice. He has been a featured soloist with the Great Falls Dance Company, and has performed at the Sylvan Theater, the Renaissance Arts Festival, the Old Post Office Pavilion, Glen Echo Park, and Wolf Trap Farm Park. His first love in dance is tap dancing and has studied with two of this area's best teachers, Nancy Newell and Toni Lombre. Michael is a member of the International Tap Association which, since its founding in 1987, serves the needs of the tap community and promotes a greater understanding of the art of tap throughout the world.

As a member of the Atlantic States Gay Rodeo Association (A.S.G.R.A), Michael performs with the Capital Cloggers, has studied clogging with the Sugarfoot Cloggers in Springfield, Virginia, and has danced with the DC Lambda minute segment with material of a patently educational nature.

Yeh-ee! Yeh-ee! Hi, podners! This here is our roundup day, so you all pretty nigh ready? Sure enough? Let's get on with it! Talent Roundup Day, every Friday, is one of the Mickey Mouse Club's most innovative segments. To put it together Hal Adelquist coordinated national talent search. Department stores and markets across the country held local talent roundups, in which the winners (contestants had to be between the ages of eight and fourteen) were presented with a studio-designed certificate and were filmed by roving Disney camera teams.

WITH A SMILE AND A SONG – words by Larry Morey, music by Frank Churchill, 1938. Sung by Adriana Caselotti as Snow White in the feature-length animated cartoon Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

A DREAM IS A WISH YOUR HEART MAKES – words and music by Mack David, Al Hoffman, and Jerry Livingston, 1949. Introduced by the voice of Ilene Woods on the soundtrack of the animated film Cinderella.

SOMEDAY MY PRINCE WILL COME – words by Larry Morey, music by Frank Churchill, 1938. Introduced by the voice of Adriana Caselotti, as Snow White, in the feature-length animated cartoon Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

DOGGIE IN THE WINDOW – words and music by Bob Merrill, 1953. Patti Page (the "Singin' Rage") had a #1 best-seller (Mercury) and was responsible for the song reaching the top position on "Your Hit Parade."

SEE THE U.S.A. IN YOUR CHEVROLET – words and music by Leon Carr and Leo Corday, 1948. Based on the radio and television jingle sung by Dinah Shore.

THIS COULD BE THE START OF SOMETHING – words and music by Steve Allen, 1956. Introduced on Steve Allen's Sunday night TV show by Les Brown and his Orchestra. The song became Allen's theme and has been heavily performed, with many recordings. It is a good example of an important standard without a hit record.

And Now a Word From Our Sponsors...

What makes a hit jingle? It's that memorable melody married to the perfect phrase, the lyric that rolls off your tongue without any effort, the tune that you whistle as you walk down the street.

The jingle is a mini-song that tells the story of the commercial...and it has a beginning, middle and an ending, all in 60 seconds or less. While the music sets the mood, the lyric gives the message. The most successful word in the advertisers' lingo is "you", and this pronoun rules Madison Avenue. Things are done for "you" and the product is "your" product. No visual image or spoken phrase communicates with the easy recognition of a catchy jingle.

And Now, On With the Show...

Way to go, Moe!

Congratulations to Moe Vela of Washington, D.C., the lucky winner of Season Subscription tickets from the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington.

And how did Moe win such a fantabulous prize? Simply by filling out an entry card at our Holiday Concert.

But don't be too envious of Moe. You could win some pretty nifty prizes yourself: a hot-off-the-presses copy of GMCW's new CD, "Singing Free," two free seats to our "Remember Stonewall" concert in June, plus four free entries in the swanky GMCW Raffle (held at our June concert).

For your chance at all that loot, just fill out the nifty little entry card tucked inside your program and hand it to the friendly usher.

Good luck...and thanks for coming tonight!

Gay Men's Chorus of Washington, D.C.

Thirteen years and still singing strong! The Gay Men's Chorus of Washington has taken its rightful place as a highly-respected musical and cultural institution in the Nation's Capital. Under the masterful direction of Jim Holloway and his staff, the Chorus has received critical acclaim in the press from coast to coast.

By now our regular audience can practically recite from memory the many achievements GMCW has recorded in our first decade: recipient of the 1989 Mayor's Arts Award for Excellence in an Artistic Discipline, active participation in numerous local community events such as the Washington Cathedral's Episcopal Caring Response for AIDS service, the annual AIDS Walkathon, political fundraising events, the 1987 March on Washington Concert at Constitution Hall, the Kennedy Center Open House, Monday Night At The National Theater, Martin Luther King, Jr. birthday celebrations, benefit concerts for Wolf Trap Farm Park and the Whitman-Walker Clinic, and active participation with the international GALA Choruses organization including special performances with over a dozen GALA member choruses across the United States and Canada. And the list continues to grow.

Most recently, GMCW was awarded a $5,000 matching grant by the District of Columbia Commission on the Arts and Humanities. This City Arts Program Award will be used to provide free tickets to GMCW concerts for persons with AIDS and their care-givers, and to support the AIDS outreach activities of GMCW and its ensembles.

In addition to the full chorus, GMCW has a family of small ensembles. The Chamber Choir made its debut at our holiday concert in December, 1991, under Jim Holloway's direction. They join Potomac Fever and A Few Good Men as specialty ensembles that provide Chorus members additional opportunities to explore the variety and diversity of musical repertoire.

No matter how large the chorus grows, we welcome new voices to our ranks. For information about auditions, please phone (202) 338-SING.

Philip M. Rogerson, Vocal Coach

A native of West Virginia and a private teacher of voice and piano in the Washington area, Phil has been an active member of the Chorus since it was founded in 1981. He is a graduate of West Virginia University with bachelors and master's degrees in music education.

Phil, along with the other members of the music staff, listens to the auditions of prospective new chorus singers as well as to the "vocal reviews" that all GMCW singing members must pass each fall. For members who have never had formal vocal instruction, he teaches a class in vocal technique each Sunday for an hour before regular rehearsal. Phil conducts vocal warm-ups and sectional rehearsals and assists soloists and individual singers with vocal problems.

He is active in many local music organizations, and has

by Michael Rivard

HOOP-DEE-DOO – words by Frank Loesser, music by Milton DeLugg, 1950. Introduced by Milton DeLugg and his Band on the late-night network TV show "Broadway Open House." Most popular records: Perry Como (RCA Victor), Kay Starr (Capitol), Russ Morgan and his Orchestra (Decca) and Doris Day (Columbia).

CIAO, CIAO BAMBINA – words by Mitchell Parish (Engl.), music by Domenico Modugno, 1959. Original Italian title "Piove", with lyrics by Edoardo Verde and Domenico Modugno. Winner first prize at San Remo Song Festival. Chart records include French instrumental version by Jack Noguez (Jamie) and Modugno's Italian recording "Piove" (Decca).

THE SYNCOPATED CLOCK – music by Leroy Anderson, 1951. Anderson's first major hit as a composer and orchestra leader. His instrumental version sold over a million copies (Decca). Also recorded by the Boston Pops Orchestra, for whom he was the arranger (RCA Victor), and organist Ethel Smith (Decca). It was the theme of TV's "The Late Show."

QUAINTY DAINTY ME – words by Bert Kalmar, music by Harry Ruby, 1938. Sung by Fanny Brice from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production "Everybody Sing" with Allan Jones, Judy Garland and Fanny Brice.

FUGUE FOR TINHORNS – words and music by Frank Loesser, 1950. Introduced by Stubby Kaye, Johnny Silver and Douglas Deane in Guys and Dolls. In the screen version, 1955, it was sung by Frank Sinatra, Johnny Silver and Dan Dayton. The song was originally written with different lyrics and titled "Three

Robert Wheeler, Executive Producer

An unseen but new key player behind this season's GMCW concerts is our executive producer, Robert. Other than when presenting flowers or moving stage equipment, you rarely see him because he is busy backstage trying to figure out the next cue or what Ginger is telling him over the headsets.

Robert became a member of GMCW's support staff this season after he was elected to GMCW's Board of Directors in June of 1993. Robert is one of two members of Capital Club, the financial support arm of GMCW, who are serving on the board. Robert also serves as the GMCW Board's Recording Secretary. He joined Capital Club in 1985 and for three years chaired the Capital Club's fundraising auction that has now become a fundraising institution for GMCW, raising $20,000 in one evening for the past three years.

For this concert production, he serves as interloper between the performance space management, the union stage crew, and our own musical staff to bring the GMCW music staff's creation to you – not to mention keeping everybody smiling.

In real (?) life, Robert is a tax attorney. Although his career pays the rent, Robert loves his work with GMCW. His favorite pastimes include travel, going to the theatre, the movies and reading.

Roland Emenheiser for helping research the music for this production.

David Lindsey for his support and dexterous digits during all the rehearsals.

Eric Annis and his Lisner Crew for their continuing assistance with our shows.

The Capital Club and their never-ending faith in our endeavors.

My buddy, Eric Korpon, for yielding the mighty saw once again.

Debi Tesser and her "girls".

Robb Rexroth and his much appreciated enthusiasm.

Jim Peterson for his music transposition skills.

Gary Simmons, Puddins, and all the members of GMCW family who help to bring some light-hearted entertainment to you, our loyal audience.

Thanks to all of you, now, let's have some fun! Break a leg!

Love, Ginger

So This Is What Don Quixote Was Searching For All Those Years.

Sometimes searching for the perfect hotel is like chasing windmills. Fortunately, the Barcelo Washington has everything you've been looking for. 300 handsomely furnished rooms with oversized bathrooms and all the amenities you'd expect from a first-rate hotel.

However, it's the service that really sets this hotel apart from the rest. The Barcelo Group has over 60 years of experience in the hospitality industry with luxury resorts throughout the Caribbean and Spain.

Call us at (202)-293-3100 the next time you need hotel accommodations or wish to dine in our new Gabriel's Restaurant. After all, perfection isn't always easy to find.
