GAY MEN'S CHORUS OF WASHINGTON, DC

Now in its 30th season, the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington, DC is at the forefront of the gay and lesbian choral movement, continuing its mission to "entertain through excellent musical performance, to affirm the place of gay people in society and to educate about the gay experience."

Founded in 1981, GMCW quickly became a staple of the Washington choral music scene. Over the years, GMCW has performed at the Kennedy Center, the National Theatre, the Warner Theatre, Constitution Hall, the Lincoln Theatre and Lisner Auditorium at The George Washington University, along with a number of other venues in and around the District. GMCW has toured many of the major cities in North America and also toured abroad. On March 2, 2010, the GMCW select ensemble Rock Creek Singers was honored to perform in a celebration of Gay Marriage Equality in the District hosted by Congressional Delegate Eleanor Holmes Norton. In October 2009, GMCW was honored to welcome with song thousands of National Equality March demonstrators to the West Lawn of the Capitol. On January 18, 2009, GMCW had the distinct honor of performing as part of the concert We Are One: The Obama Inaugural Celebration at the Lincoln Memorial, for the 56th Presidential Inaugural. On the steps of the Lincoln Memorial, like many others before them who struggled to achieve equality, the Chorus sang "America" with Josh Groban and Heather Headley before President-elect Obama and millions around the world. During its 20th anniversary season, GMCW performed at Symphony Hall in Boston and Carnegie Hall in New York City. In December 2002, GMCW was honored to perform as part of the 25th annual Kennedy Center Honors in tribute to Elizabeth Taylor. This performance was televised nationwide, bringing the Chorus into millions of homes across the nation. GMCW returned to the Kennedy Center Honors in December 2010 to honor Jerry Herman alongside Carol Channing, Angela Lansbury and Chita Rivera, among other Broadway luminaries. Recently, the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington was honored to win the 2010 Washington Area Music Award for Best Choral Group.

The more than 275 members of GMCW perform five subscription concerts annually. GMCW also appears at a number of community events, including programs for PFLAG, Whitman-Walker Clinic and Food & Friends. GMCW sponsors two small ensembles: Potomac Fever, a close harmony group, and Rock Creek Singers, a 25-voice chamber music ensemble. These ensembles serve as representatives of GMCW at many community functions.

GMCW is a proud member of the Gay and Lesbian Association of Choruses (GALA Choruses) and the Cultural Alliance of Washington.

Anniversaries and Family

"It's more than you, it is more than me.
Whatever dreams we have, we are a family."

(from the Broadway musical Dreamgirls, 1981)

The brave men and women who founded GMCW in June of 1981 had a dream — forming a chorus of men in Washington, DC, who could create change through music and who would stand up and proudly say, "I'm gay." This was during a time when being an openly gay group presented some challenges. But there was no stopping their dream.

In the early '80s the Chorus leaders had difficulty finding places to rehearse and perform. As the AIDS epidemic took its terrible toll, they had to fight to sing at a healing service at the National Cathedral. The early leaders put their hearts and souls into the Chorus, and in doing so they created a family. GMCW is a group whose members come together to sing; to care for one another when they are ill; and to support one another during difficult times. In recent years we have grown to more than 300 singers. And we owe a great deal to the early Chorus leaders who paved the way for each of us.

Six months after GMCW was founded, Dreamgirls opened on Broadway, starring a young woman named Jennifer Holliday. In the show she sang two inspirational songs: "And I Am Telling You," a song of empowerment, and "Family," which has become one of the anthems of the gay choral movement. It is fitting that Jennifer is joining us this evening to help us celebrate our 30th anniversary.

And in honor of the anniversary we have commissioned a groundbreaking new choral work... actually it is a one-act musical. The new commission, Alexander's House, has traveled a two-year journey, beginning with the first new-commission committee meeting in February 2009 and culminating in this weekend's performances. At its heart, it is a story about family: the one we're born in to, the one we choose, and the ties that bind the two together. The work, with music and lyrics by New York City composer Michael Shaieb and book by Michael and his partner, Brent Lord, is touching, funny and powerful. It breaks ground in the gay choral movement by integrating music and dialogue. The music embraces several diverse styles: Broadway, folk melody, jazz and traditional choral music.

We have dedicated Alexander's House to our friend Michael Baker, a founding member of the Chorus who passed away on March 1, 2010. Michael left behind a loving partner, Trieu, a group of friends who adored him and a son of whom he was very proud. Michael loved the Chorus and we are honored to be able to dedicate this piece for him.

Alexander's House is our third major commission during my tenure as artistic director. The first two, Changing Hearts and Songs of My Family, have lived on and continue to be performed by men's choruses around the country. I am hopeful that Alexander's House will have that same trajectory, continuing to touch the lives of all who hear it.

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

While it has been just over two years that I've been with GMCW as the Executive Director, I have enjoyed performing with gay men's choruses for the 15 years before that in Pittsburgh, San Jose and San Francisco. I know how special these organizations are and how much they mean to their respective communities — especially to gay and GLBT-supportive communities across the country and around the world. That special bond between GMCW and our community is a big reason that I wanted the job and decided to relocate to DC from the Bay Area. So it's been especially gratifying during my time here to watch our family of subscribers increase from under 230 when I arrived in 2009 to over 750 this season. It's an indicator that what we do matters and that having a healthy gay chorus in Washington is important to our stakeholders. While we have always enjoyed a strong base of financial support and have many generous donors, the push to increase the number of GMCW subscribers has resulted in a broader base of support and has meant that our men are singing for larger audiences every time we step on the stage.

At a recent meeting with the leader of our largest foundation supporter we discussed how GMCW stands apart from many arts organizations in that we are GROWING the number of subscribers affiliated with our organization at a time when other choruses and theaters are seeing their numbers of subscribers dwindle (and are relying more and more on the fluctuation and unreliability of single ticket sales to stay afloat). The fact that our subscription numbers are healthy helps to convince foundations and corporations to support GMCW and allows us to diversify our funding sources and grow the Chorus and extend our reach.

If you've not already done so, please visit our website at GMCW.org or call me at our office to renew your subscription or to become a new subscriber to GMCW. The prices are incredibly affordable and the rewards are indescribable. Along with guaranteed great seats and wonderful and satisfying entertainment, you will have the gratification of knowing that you are supporting an important cultural resource in Washington that changes hearts and minds on issues important to the GLBT community.

Thank you for your ongoing support of and investment in the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington.

FROM THE COMPOSER

Families Come In Every Shade of Gray

About five years ago, I saw an ad on my NYU graduate school forum. The Twin Cities Gay Men's Chorus was looking for a composer to write a new commission. I had never seen a gay men's chorus concert, and I had never written for a men's chorus. The subject matter of the commission, crystal meth addiction, was even more unfamiliar and strange. I dismissed it, until a friend of mine urged me to submit some of my material.

I went on to write Through a Glass, Darkly for the TCGMC, which performed it in 2008. The next year the piece had its East Coast premiere by the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington, DC. I am very grateful that I didn't dismiss the opportunity to write for a gay men's chorus. It led me to discover this gem of a choral world, where people come together to find a home and express themselves and their talents.

When Jeff Buhrman approached me in 2009 to write a new commission for GMCW, there were many themes about family and finding a home that he and his commission committee wished to explore. Alexander's House is a culmination of these themes, conveyed in a story about a man who passes away, leaving behind a partner, a family of friends and an estranged son.

As I work with many of the choruses around the country, and meet and socialize with their members, I'm struck by how many people in these choruses have been married and have children. I just hadn't thought about it before.

It occurred to my partner, Brent, and me that here was a story, and that this story would be a good way to express the many themes that Jeff and the Chorus wanted to address. Alexander has two separate worlds and, after his death, his two worlds are forced to meet for the first time.

When I called Jeff to discuss the idea, there was silence on the other end of the phone. I quietly said to Brent, "I think he hates it." What I didn't realize was that Jeff and his family of friends were about to lose one of their number, and the story that I had pitched was eerily similar. That's when we all knew that this was the story to tell.

It has been a pleasure working with the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington, DC, and Jeff Buhrman. They have been incredibly welcoming to Brent and me, and we both appreciate this wonderful opportunity. As Alexander says, "Families come in many shades of gray." Never has this been more apparent to me than now, watching and working with this very talented group of people.

JEFF BUHRMAN, Artistic Director

This is Jeff Buhrman's 11th season as artistic director of the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington. Under his leadership, GMCW has been recognized as one of the finest and most prominent men's choruses in the country, with more than 275 singing members and a reputation for musical diversity and innovation. From classical music to newly commissioned works to fully staged productions of Broadway shows, GMCW is a musical leader in the GLBT choral movement.

During Jeff's tenure GMCW has received many honors. In January 2009, the Chorus was selected to sing "America" at We Are One: The Obama Inaugural Celebration on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial. Last December the Chorus performed with Angela Lansbury, Carol Channing and Chita Rivera at the Kennedy Center Honors tribute to Broadway composer Jerry Herman. In December 2002, the Chorus was featured at the Honors salute to Elizabeth Taylor. The Chorus has also performed at Carnegie Hall in New York and Jeff has led the Chorus in recording six compact discs, including two original commissions: Songs of My Family and Changing Hearts. GMCW's 20th anniversary CD, I Dream of a Time, won the 2002 WAMMIE award for outstanding choral recording from the Washington Area Music Association. GMCW also received the WAMMIE award for Best Choral Group in 2003 and 2005. Consistently praised by local critics, GMCW was hailed as "one of the finest male choruses in the world" in 2001 by a Washington Post reviewer. Another noted that "huge choruses often sound thick and ponderous, but conductor Jeff Buhrman educed a light, limber, beautifully balanced sonority that ebbed and shimmered, framing lyrics with coronas of color."

Jeff joined the Chorus as a singing member in 1986. Two years later he began directing the small ensemble Potomac Fever, a job he held for the next 10 seasons culminating in a European tour at which PF sang at the opening ceremonies of the European Gay and Lesbian Association of Choruses festival in Munich. He resumed directing Potomac Fever in 2003. In 1989, Jeff began an eight year run as assistant director of the Chorus, working with Music Director Jim Holloway. Jeff had the honor of directing GMCW at an inauguration concert for President Clinton in January 1997.

Under Jeff's direction, Potomac Fever has attained a wide following with its distinctive style which is characterized by fluid phrasing and warmth of tone. Through his tenure the group has become a leader in community outreach, performing many concerts, fundraisers and events in the Washington area and around the country. PF will travel to Fredericksburg, VA, later this month to sing a fundraiser for Fredericksburg Pride. In April they will give two concerts in New Mexico: a fundraiser for St. Martin's Homeless Shelter in Albuquerque and a concert at Rainbow Visions in Santa Fe, one of the first GLBT retirement communities in the country.

Having worked with high school students as a choral director and school counselor for 25 years, Jeff is most proud of founding GMCW's youth outreach program in 2002, a program that has grown significantly and is now known as GenOUT. The Chorus reaches out to over 200 area high schools and colleges and has provided thousands of free tickets to youth over the past nine years.

Jeff holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in music education and voice from Montclair State University and a Master of Arts in counseling from The George Washington University. In addition, he studied voice with Marden Bate and conducting with David Randolph, and received additional training in voice with Walter Blazer of the Manhattan School of Music. He has performed with such preeminent choral conductors as Robert Shaw, Roger Wagner, David Randolph and Dennis Keene.

Jeff's greatest pleasure is sharing his life with his wonderful husband, Roger, and their mini-dachshund, Mocha.

THEODORE GUERRANT, Principal Accompanist

Now in his 28th season as GMCW's principal accompanist, "Dr. Teddy" began his musical life in his native College Park, Georgia, with piano lessons from his mother at age three, an Atlanta television appearance at age four on Freddie Miller's Stars of Tomorrow and formal piano lessons with Regina Pudney at age five. At age 11 he began organ lessons with his then next door neighbor, Frank Willingham. By the time he was a senior in high school at Woodward Academy and studying piano with his aunt, Eliza Holmes Feldmann, then artist-in-residence at Brenau College in Gainesville, Georgia, Teddy was accompanying five choral groups and playing five church services every week. He went off to colleges with various scholarships and assistantships and eventually earned five degrees in keyboard performance (three in piano, one in harpsichord and one in organ) from the Universities of Georgia, Wisconsin and Maryland, as well as the Peabody Conservatory. He spent an idyllic summer in England studying piano with Denise Lassimonne in 1984, and ultimately settled down to juggle the six part-time positions he presently holds as organist-choirmaster at Saint Margaret's Episcopal Church (Washington); associate organist at Saint Mark the Evangelist Catholic Church (Hyattsville); accompanist/rehearsal assistant for the Central Maryland Chorale, the National Philharmonic Chorale at Strathmore Hall and GMCW; and coach-accompanist in the University of Maryland School of Music where, among a wide variety of duties, he leads graduate students through their comprehensive exams, works with the resident faculty and artists such as Evelyn Lear, and accompanies his other men's chorus, UMen. In his spare time, Dr. Teddy works at maintaining a century-plus old home in Laurel, Maryland's historic district and several keyboard instruments older than his house.

OVATION SOCIETY

The Gay Men's Chorus of Washington, DC's

The Gay Men's Chorus of Washington's Ovation Society is an initiative that recognizes and honors those generous individuals and families who have made planned gifts to the Chorus.

If you have already included GMCW in your estate plans, please let us know so that we can include you as a member of the Ovation Society. If not, we hope you will consider joining this special group by including GMCW in your will, as a beneficiary of a retirement account or by setting up a charitable trust. Planned gifts can greatly reduce the amount of tax paid by your estate at the time of your death and often do not change the amount that would go to your family and friends.

While your attorney or accountant can provide you with more information, GMCW has several corporate sponsors – both financial planners and attorneys – who specialize in GLBT estate issues. We are happy to share this resource list with you upon request.

As a member of the Ovation Society, you will also be invited to attend special events and receptions especially for Ovation Society members.

For further information about GMCW's Ovation Society or if you are interested in learning more about the many ways you can include GMCW in your plans, please contact Executive Director David Jobin at 202-293-1548 or DJobin@GMCW.org.

The following individuals have donated to GMCW's 30 for 30 Leadership Fund – an effort to raise $30,000 in celebration of 30 years of GMCW serving the greater Washington community. This leadership committee of GMCW's most generous supporters serves to inspire and encourage others to pledge $1,000 beyond their traditional support of the Chorus. The monies will be used to increase the Chorus's current cash reserve and to facilitate the creation of a dynamic strategic plan that will help give direction to the Chorus's future. For more information or to join the 30 for 30 Leadership Fund, please contact Executive Director David Jobin at 202-293-1548 or DJobin@GMCW.org.

PARTNERS IN HARMONY PROGRAM

The mission of GMCW to "entertain through excellent musical performance, to affirm the place of gay people in society and to educate about the gay experience" includes honoring and promoting others whose mission enhances and complements our own. In a world where religious leaders and their organizations have too often embodied the oppression and rejection that many of us have suffered, we rejoice to notice the growing number of synagogues, congregations, churches and other religious organizations that welcome, enfold and celebrate GLBT persons.

Sometimes at great risk to the respect and support of their own traditions, sometimes in prophetic leadership roles in their communities, sometimes as quietly and naturally as living out their core values, these groups are a rich source of meaning, community, service and worship for many of our singers and audience members.

We celebrate that we perform in the Washington, DC metropolitan area TOGETHER IN HARMONY with these colleagues in several faith traditions.

We proudly list them here as our PARTNERS IN HARMONY. We recommend them to any who are looking for a faith community to call home.

Let's Take a Holliday!

The Holiday Isle's a resort in the Keys.
You can locate a Holiday Inn with great ease.

Kate Hepburn has taken herself quite a few and we've watched her in Rome doing what Romans do.

The Last one enjoyed by Latifah, The Queen, and a silly one taken by Brit, Mr. Bean, just reinforced what was already so clear...

for this Holliday
we would rather be here!
